WHAT IS GOING ON IN WESTERY

No Particular Disposition to Favor Protecting Auto Owners

—Robt. English Gets a Taste of Law for Reckless Speeding—Hancock Post's Choice of Commander—D. A. R. Chapter Entertained by Mrs. Wm. D. Hoxie.

There was a special meeting of the Westery town council Wednesday evening for the consideration of the protest of Watch Hill residents against the continuance of the rebuilding of the trolley road.

General Manager Sewell said he regretted that the work could not have been commenced earlier, but that there was delay in financing the project and securing the material. He did not consider that the present rails are safe for public use, especially where large and modern cars are to be used. He was offered $15,000 to $18,000 to repair the tracks, but that could not be done to advantage so it was arranged to secure $100,000 to rebuild and equip the road.

Councilman Burdick said he did not think the town should stop work on an equipment that was unsafe.

Councilman Chubb said it was unfortunate that the Watch Hill people were inconvenienced, but the people had been long clamoring for better service and it did not seem right to block the work that had been commenced.

Mr. Sewell stated that it was intended to give the best possible service, and that the six rail portions of the road would cost $31,500. If permitted to go to Pleasant View Junction, the work beyond that point would not interfere with public traffic as there would be from 20 to 30 feet space for automobiles. It would take about six days more to get out of the present narrow part of the road where work was taken up for a space to exceed one thousand feet, and be cleaned up as the work progressed.

Councilman Langworthy suggested that the narrow portions of the road be closed while the work is going on. Councilman Funn thought the danger of one thousand feet for working space was more than was actually required. He believed in guarding the interest of the people who traveled on the cars as well as the Watch Hill people, and he considered that too long a distance to walk from one place to the other.

Judge John W. Sweeney, counsel for the remonstrants against the so-called improvement, said this season was not the proper time to do the work. The road is as safe now as it had been for years. The company takes fare for full trip and makes no provision for the transfer of the passengers. All would like better cars, but the work would not be done when it interfered with the business of Watch Hill and the merchants of Westery.

Judge Sweeney then read a petition from Watch Hill residents asking that the trolley company be required to finish up the work that had actually been done, and that then the work be suspended until September 15.

Everett A. Kingsley, counsel for the trolley company, stated that at least two prominent residents of Watch Hill were in favor of the work being continued. George A. Pope was in favor of continuance, so was Mr. Hastings.

No objection was made to the work being continued at Watch Hill or even the passengers have made no formal protest, although it was known that during the same period last season. Further, three of the hotel proprietors had stated that they had no objection to the work being continued.

Mr. Hastings was opposed to the rebuilding of the trolley road. Councilman Burdick stated that Mr. Hastings had told him that it was unfortunate that the work was begun this year, but now that it should be continued and completed as soon as possible. Mr. Pope also told him that he had told councilmen that he favored the continuance of the work.

The council then went into executive session.

While Robert English, a young summer resident, was going at a rapid rate to Watch Hill, with a party of young ladies, to attend a wedding on Wednesday night, he ran his automobile into a business wagon going in the same direction, which was owned and occupied by William D. Main, who was on his summer home at Pleasant View.

The rear end collision took place near Clark's hill on the Watch Hill road, where Mr. Main had driven to the extreme of the road in order to give the automobile ample room to pass.

The automobile struck and smashed one of the rear wheels of the wagon and Mr. Main was thrown out with considerable force, while the automobile came along as if nothing had happened. Mr. English being bent upon getting his friends to the wedding regardless of consequences.

He arrived soon after arriving at Watch Hill and escorted back to the police station in Westery. As Chief Brandfield yielded to the request of English that he be permitted to give bond for appearance for trial, it was decided that he be released without delay. Judge Williams was not available, and Clerk Candall obligingly consented to the release of the defendant.

English was arraigned upon two counts of reckless driving, and failing to return after the mishap to ascertain the damage done. He pleaded not guilty and furnished a bond of $500 for his appearance in the third district court, Friday morning.

Subsequently English was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Mitchell. He was held for damages brought by Mr. Main for injuries to his property and person in this case he furnished a bond of $1,000, with surety to the satisfaction of the deputy sheriff for his appearance.

Hancock post, No. 81, Grand Army of the Republic, department of Connecticut, in regular session, elected Albert N. Crandall post commander for the unexpired term of the late Walter Price, who had served as commander for twelve years. Abel Barber was elected senior vice commander to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of James Hawkins, who has removed elsewhere.

William Stillwell of Williamtown, a former resident of Westery, will return after an absence of twelve years. He is now ready to take the White Rock mill, succeeding William Chapman, who has held the place for 19 years. Mr. Chapman and family will move to Pawtucket.

James Lang was severely injured when alighting from a moving trolley car near Cross street. He fell with considerable force, receiving a severe cut in the head and one rib in his left side was fractured. He received minor cuts and bruises and will not be able to resume his regular occupation for several weeks.

The town council has by vote instructed the police committee to enforce the law relating to automobiles, with special reference to excess of speed. As yet there is no apparent disposition to restrict the number of automobiles within the limits of the town, and no special plan has as yet been adopted to enforce the law in that particular.

It was suggested at the meeting that the law be enforced at once and that they be all in an equal class.

It was also suggested that the proper time to enforce the law was when there were automobiles here in large numbers and not as it was in the case a year ago, until the Watch Hill season was about to close, and then trap a couple of machines that perhaps visited Westery for the first time during the season.

The account of the trustee, Arthur Anderson, has been accepted, and there was not enough to declare a dividend. The estate was exhausted in the payment of mortgages for $1,648.83 held by Robert Palmer, and that held by C. B. Hancock, which was compromised at $300, and in the expense of settling the estate.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. EMMA LANE, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.
